

Making the invisible visible

Assisting adults and children with hidden disabilities

Not all disabilities are visible – some are not immediately obvious, such as autism, chronic pain, dementia, anxiety, visual or hearing impairment. Living with a hidden disability can make daily life more demanding for many, but it can be difficult for others to recognise, acknowledge or understand the challenges people may face.

“The lanyards and sunflower pins were so well received and such a success. I can’t speak more highly of this program. It is everything we love in the accessibility and inclusion space. Smart, inclusive and dignified.”

Zehra Ahmed - Sustainability, Accessibility, Diversity & Inclusion Projects Coordinator. Australian Museum
